

[I quote from The Columbia Desk Encyclopedia (1953) and from The Encyclopedia of "HOWARD, British noble family. First called HERWARD, their career in England 10th century. A Hereward fought against William I. His descendants were of Arundel (1139), Barons Maltravers (1330), Earls of Surrey and Dukes Barons Fitzalan (1627), Earls of Norfolk (1644) and Barons Herries (1884)" of Suffolk, Carlisle and Effingham, and the Lord Howard of Glossop repre-age its younger lines." Catharine Howard was a niece of Thomas Howard Norfolk and the 5th wife of Henry VIII, and Lord Howard of Effingham of Queen Elizabeth's fleet which defeated the Spanish Armada in 1588.
 Tradition says that our family can be traced back to the Earl of Effingh-descendant of Lord Howard of Effingham. This is upheld by the fact that some of us are accustomed to associate with our branch of the family has Effingham Lion. My father, E. Edwin Howard, points this out in notes which say, in part: "the lion forms part of the different Howard crests not always given the same posture or shape. For example, on the crest of Norfolk, who is the head of the family, the tail of the lion is curved of the Earl of Carlisle is the lion rampant, I believe, and so is that of de Walden. That of the Earl of Effingham has the tail extended. The mille Scuta" means "virtue (in the sense of 'manhood' or 'valour') in Shields". The other branches of the family have mottoes that are of the same idea." The lion which we think as "ours" has its tail extended.

The present (1986) head of the family is Bernard Sharmaduke Fitzalan 16th Duke of Norfolk, premier duke of the Kingdom and earl marshal He lives in Arundel Castle, Sussex.

"Seeking their religious freedom a branch of the Howard family went to the Germany... etc. finally coming to the New World where they became one branch, wishing to remain under British rule, moved with their slave family" settled in Rhode Island but soon moved to Mass. In Fitchburgh family history emblazoned with the crest and motto 'Virtus mille Scuta' dia (1953) and from The Encyclopedia Britannica, 11th Edition] HERWARD, their careers in England goes back to the William I. His descendants were created Earls (1400), Earls of Surrey and Dukes of Norfolk (1483), (1544) and Barons Herries (1884)" "while the Earls and Lord Howard of Glossop represent in the peer-ard was a niece of Thomas Howard, 3rd Duke of and Lord Howard of Effingham was the Admiral of the Spanish Armada in 1588... etc. etc.

... traced back to the Earl of Effingham, the direct ancestor. This is upheld by the fact that the crest which we have with our branch of the family has, as part of it, the crest of the Howard, points this out in notes he made in 1932 as part of the different Howard crests, though it is not the same shape. For example, on the crest of the Duke of Norfolk, the tail of the lion is curved upward, that of the Earl of Effingham, I believe, and so is that of Lord Howard of Effingham has the tail extended. The motto "Virtus in Armis" (use of 'manhood' or 'valour') is a thousand years old. The family have mottoes that are variations of the motto "Virtus in Armis" has its tail extended.

Bernard Sharmaduke Fitzalan-Howard (1908 - present) is the King of the Kingdom and earl marshal of England.

... of the Howard family went to the Continent and wandered through France, Holland and the world where they became one of the first families of Virginia. Again, a British rule, moved with their slaves, gold... etc. to Canada before the Revolution, then moved to Mass. In Fitchburgh, Mass. is to be seen "or way to be seen" (the Howard crest and motto 'Virtus mille Scuta' (from E.E.H.'s NOTES) Winfield Hersey Howard says "No Longer")
